

- 1.2 The VP reported that the SED would be submitted on 19 February to the QAA reviewers in preparation of the HER visit to UCL commencing 9 May 2016. The report sets out UCL's approach to managing academic standards, student experience, public information and education enhancement and is mapped onto the criteria defined by QAA.
- 1.3 The VP thanked members of staff across UCL for their contributions to ensure that the document was a true reflection of UCL's activity and invited further comment from AC on whether any critical features, activities or practices had been overlooked. Obvious strengths are indicated in the SED, however, members were requested to comment on the intensity and type of weaknesses identified.
- 1.4 The VP reported that there was increased complexity in this review as two previously independent institutions, SoP and IoE had now merged with UCL.
- 1.5 It was noted by members that activities to enhance the quality of student experience did not feature strongly enough throughout the document, such as the IQR process. This may be a consequence of QAA's rigid separation of judgement areas and elaborate focus on aspects of the UK Quality Code and subsequent impact on drafting the SED.
- 1.6 In response to a member's comment, the VP noted that recent changes to the regulations have resulted in improved systems to enhance the student experience, and that evidence of this would be included in the SED and during the review visit.
- 1.7 It was noted that the research link to education was clear, although it would be worth emphasising that the standard UCL rules and regulations apply to all students including PGR students and specific rules for Doctoral students are extracted and highlighted in relevant places.
- 1.8 In response to members' comments, the Director of Academic Services highlighted that in some areas, work is being developed to tackle the issues, such as working innovatively with UCLU in exploring initiatives to increase and enhance student engagement.
- 1.9 Resolved – Members of Academic Committee approved in principle the SED with minor amendments.

2 QAA HER: STUDENT SUBMISSION

[PAPER 2-02, 2015-16]

- 2.1 Received – an oral introduction to the paper from Ms Wahida Samie, Education and Campaigns Officer, UCLU.
- 2.2 Members suggestions and comments included:

UCLU should review the surveys and examples provided as evidence for statements highlighted in the report and consider examples that explore common issues and challenges instead of concentrating on only Faculty specific ones; UCLU should review and expand the section on information to international students, particularly on student inductions; An overall good working relationship exists between UCL and UCLU and the improvement agenda included in the student submission will be a good basis to work collaboratively to improve the overall student experience.

2.3 The Director of Academic Services also mentioned that the student submission would be a major drive in the review process for reviewers to inquire and formulate their line of investigation.

2.4 The Provost thanked the Education and Campaigns Officer and UCLU for drafting the student submission and sharing it in advance of submission to QAA.
